

Its back to Black and White- new colour options available for LILIN's most popular cameras.

LILIN have announced the addition of black coloured cameras to their popular ZMR range. Designed with the custom install market in mind and based upon customer demand for black cameras as standard, these new models are due to arrive in early February 2019.

Available models will include both 1080P and 4MP turret and bullet cameras, which are all equipped with a motorized zoom lens and auto focus capability for a seamless installation- once mounted, the cameras can be adjusted and focused via a web browser or the free LILINViewer mobile app, greatly reducing installation time.

These cameras are powder coated in black for a clean and durable finish and are IP66 rated weather proof. Bracketry options, including junction boxes for both chassis will also be available in black, allowing installers greater freedom of choice when selecting mounting locations.
