InfoComm's All Access Pass: All the Education, Just one Price

InfoComm International® is offering a great value All Access Pass for attendees of Integrated Systems Europe. The pass – available <http://www.infocomm.org/ise2017> – allows attendees to pay just one price for access to unlimited InfoComm MasterClass, Conference and Application Lab sessions.

It is the first time that the offer has been available at ISE, and the deal provides fantastic return on investment for show attendees.

"For ISE 2017, we wanted to make our education programme more accessible than ever," said Pam Taggart, CTS, Senior Director of Development Europe, InfoComm International. "We know that at a busy trade show like ISE, time is precious and plans can change. With the InfoComm All Access Pass, attendees will be able to adopt a flexible approach to education and take in as much of the programme as they want, when they want."

The InfoComm All Access Pass gives attendees access to every MasterClass, Application Lab and Conference at the Elicium in this extensive professional development programme. From exploring emerging technology applications to looking at the evolution of the AV industry, there is something for everyone.

And InfoComm will be throwing a reception for All Access pass holders daily in The Elicium at 5pm on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday after a busy day at the show. Come along for much-needed refreshments and the chance to network with like-minded AV professionals.

In order to take advantage of this fantastic deal, book your ticket now (Members: €325, Non-Members: €375). To learn more and secure your All Access Pass, visit <http://www.infocomm.org/ise2017>.

ISE is a joint venture between InfoComm and CEDIA, the two leading industry associations for the global audiovisual industry.
